

Next, we ask you to review yet another different change of the same software system.

Please remember that your first priority is to find as many defects as possible, and the second priority is to do so in as little time as possible.

Continue and start next review ►