Start of Block: Introduction

Q1.1 You are being invited to participate in a research study titled “Characterising the adoption of ORCID iDs in academic communities”. This study is being done by a team from the University of St Andrews. The purpose of this survey is to obtain a picture of the use of Open Researcher and Contributor IDs (ORCID iDs) amongst researchers of all disciplines at your institution. ORCID iDs are permanent researcher-identifiers owned and controlled by the individual. They facilitate unambiguous attribution of work and exchange of information with institutions, funders, publishers and professional associations. For more information, visit <https://orcid.org/>. The aim of this research is to understand how their implementation can be optimised for the benefit of researchers.

This quick survey will take you approximately 5-10 minutes to complete. You are free to omit any question. Your participation in this study is voluntary and you can withdraw at any time.

Note:

All views will be treated in confidence. Survey responses will be stored without collecting IP addresses or geographical information in Qualtrics' EU data centres and subsequently on University of St Andrews managed storage. We are committed to Open Access. Therefore, survey responses will be checked and anonymised and anonymised data will be openly published for future use. Individual results or comments will not be shared with any other third party unless this is required by law, and will not be used in a manner which would allow identification of your individual responses. The raw data from this survey will be kept until the end of the project on secure University of St Andrews infrastructure. By completing this survey, you are consenting to these terms. This survey tool has been reviewed and approved by the University of St Andrews Research and Teaching Ethics committee (UTREC), approval code [xxxx].
